Nurse Wound Management Program

The Fabulous World of Wounds: Modules Two and Four

Everything you have ever wanted to know about wound care

The Nurses for Nurses Network has created a nine-module Wound Management Program, called the Fabulous World of Wounds that provides the Nurse with the skill and knowledge to assess, plan, and manage wounds in the clinical setting, to achieve the best possible outcome for the client. The modules are delivered in several different formats. The content of each module stands alone as a continuing professional development (CPD) activity and at the completion of each module, a CPD Certificate will be awarded as evidence of the education activity.

All Nurses, irrespective of the workplace will need to understand wound management and be able to provide clinical support and /or advice to a patient in addition to providing advice and/or directing other members of the clinical team in wound management. This is an exceptional opportunity to cover this level of expert content in such a fabulous conference setting.

OUR PRESENTER

Cheryl Dezotti, R.N., M.Q.I.H.C., Grad Dip Q.I.H.C., A.F.A.A.Q.H.C., M.A.C.N.

Cheryl Dezotti is a Director, a Nurse Education Consultant, and a Wound Care Specialist at the Nurses for Nurses Network. Cheryl co-created and administers this Network to provide an online platform for Nurses to meet their continuing professional development requirements. She is also the editor, and major contributor, of the Nursing News Blog associated with this Network.

Cheryl has worked extensively in the field of wound care management over the last 30 years. This passion for wound care has seen her lecture widely on the topic both in Australia and internationally and has led her to author a wound assessment book, multiple wound management documents, as well as creating a postgraduate wound care course.

Recently Cheryl has launched the Nurses for Nurses Wound Assessment Tool that was created based on her extensive experience in the field and her continued interaction with nursing colleagues, mentoring and assisting them to achieve the best possible wound management outcome for their clients. Cheryl continues her research into best practice wound assessment by overseeing a trial of the assessment tool in multiple clinical settings.

As an author, Cheryl's aim is to provide the reader information that can be easily and practically applied in the clinical setting. As a presenter, Cheryl is known for her ability to deliver the complexities of wound management in a straightforward and easily understood format that allows attendees to easily apply the content to their individual clinical practice.

Cheryl's aim is to make a difference to the recipients of health care and she believes that a positive outcome for the patient can only be achieved if Nurses keep up to date with best practice guidelines and their practical application in the workplace.

MODULE TWO: Acute Wounds – Types and Management

Acute wounds can present in any healthcare setting. Nurses need to remain aware of the types of acute wounds that may present and the contemporary management strategies that should be employed.

In this module, we will explore the common types of acute wounds and the unique characteristics of wounds that are found in each category. In particular, we will unpack the aetiology, risk factors and best practice management recommendations for skin tears, burns, surgical wounds and wounds caused by trauma.

Module Learning Outcomes:

- Investigate the types of acute wounds from aetiology to management strategies
- Explore the management of skin tears and burns
- Investigate the management of surgical wounds and wounds created by acute trauma
- Undertake case study and scenario-based group work to reinforce the knowledge gained

Topics covered:

- The Types of Acute Wounds
- Best Practice Management of Skin Tears
- The Management of Burns
- The Management of Surgical Wounds
- The Management of Trauma Wounds
- Case Study and Scenario Group Work

MODULE FOUR: Chronic Wounds – Best Practice Management
