The Presenters:

Elizabeth Wilmot

Elizabeth has been involved in education for over 30 years. Her experience includes teaching primary secondary, adult literacy, tutoring, executive professional development, coaching and developing high performing teams.

Over the last 10+ years, Elizabeth has focused on developing individual and teams across the health sector to achieve their potential through exploring the benefits of diversity in thinking preferences, managing for mutual outcomes and challenging the status quo.

Previous roles as a manager highlighted that too often staff are not engaged in the business and have significant misconceptions about the challenges facing the organisation. Communication to employees, particularly around change, is regularly not clearly articulated to those responsible for implementing the change – with resulting frustrations for both management and staff.

Armed with the firm conviction that workplace training should always be directly linked to the organisation's objectives, Elizabeth strives to develop and present quality, relevant and entertaining training with a clear focus on increasing capability, effectiveness and sustainability.

Pam Bridges

Pam is a Registered Nurse with a BA Social Welfare and a Graduate Diploma in Health Services Management. Over her career, she has been involved with a wide range of State and National Committees and Reference Groups representing industry views and interests.

Pam has been working at PBC – Pam Bridges Consulting – for the past six years where she has undertaken a wide range of tasks including Nurse Adviser, Expert Witness tasks for the Coroner, Complaint investigations, Gap audits and more. This work has been carried out in both the residential and home care sectors.

Pam has held the position of President of Nurses in Management (NIMAC) for the past 20 + years. 2020 is the final year for this organisation where she will head up a study tour to China.

Sue Walker

Sue Walker is the Director and co-founder of the Nurses for Nurses Network and the Nursing CPD Institute. As a Nurse Education Consultant, Sue is a member of the Education Governance Committee of the Institute as well as a key contributor to the online education platform Continuing Professional Development library.

As a Registered Nurse, Sue holds Degrees in Nursing and Health Administration, a Master's degree in Primary Health Care majoring in Palliative Care, as well as a number of certificate courses in Psychiatry of Ageing, Gerontology, Chemotherapy Administration, Training and Assessment, and is also an Accredited Mental Health First Aid Trainer.

Sue has extensive experience both as a clinician, educator, and senior manager in the acute, aged care, community, and palliative care settings. Sue is passionate about making a difference to the way in which people experience the health care system.

Sue has worked as a Facility Manager of a large not for profit residential aged care facility for seven years. During her time with the organisation, Sue oversaw the build of a new 120-bed facility, the decanting of the old facility into the new, and retained her sanity and sense of humour through the defects period that followed! Her work resulted in the facility achieving organisational financial goals whilst consistently meeting external accreditation criteria. Sue's aim in residential aged care was to create an environment that supported the happiness of Residents and families and provided job satisfaction for a team of staff that was second to none.
