SYNOPSIS:

This study tour explores the African philosophy of Ubuntu, commonly expressed as “I am because we are”, and its relevance to contemporary nursing practice, teamwork and community health. Ubuntu emphasises interconnectedness, shared responsibility and the belief that individual wellbeing is inseparable from the wellbeing of others. These values align closely with the foundations of nursing, yet are often challenged by modern healthcare systems shaped by workload pressures, task-driven models of care and professional silos.

Through guided cultural experiences, community engagement and discussions with South African health professionals, participants will examine how Ubuntu is reflected in everyday healthcare delivery, family involvement, community-based services and interprofessional relationships. The tour will explore how historical, social and economic factors have shaped health systems in South Africa, and how collective approaches to care continue to influence health practices across hospital, primary care and community settings.

Participants will be encouraged to reflect on how Ubuntu contrasts with, complements or challenges Australian healthcare models, particularly in relation to professional boundaries, teamwork, cultural safety, patient-centred care and workforce wellbeing.

The study tour will also consider how nurses can incorporate principles of relational practice, shared decision-making and community connection into their own workplaces without compromising professional standards or safety.

This program is designed to support nurses to think differently about care delivery, leadership and professional identity, using Ubuntu as a lens to re-examine what it means to work in a profession built on connection, compassion and collective responsibility — even within complex, high-pressure health systems.

Learning outcomes:

On completion of this study tour, participants will be able to:

- Explain the core principles of Ubuntu and analyse how this philosophy influences healthcare relationships, teamwork and community-based models of care in South Africa.
- Critically compare Ubuntu-informed approaches to care with Australian nursing practice, identifying similarities, differences and implications for patient-centred and culturally responsive care.
- Evaluate how social, historical and economic factors shape health service delivery and health outcomes in South African communities, and reflect on parallels within Australian healthcare contexts.
- Identify practical strategies for integrating relational, community-focused principles into everyday nursing practice while maintaining professional standards, safety and ethical responsibilities.

This educational content has been developed specifically for this study tour by the program provider. While informed by established cultural concepts and contemporary nursing practice frameworks, the material represents original work and has not been reproduced from existing publications or training programs.

Groote Schuur Hospital: Tour of the Heart Museum

The Heart of Cape Town Museum is situated in the original operating rooms where the world's first heart transplant was performed by Professor Christiaan Barnard and his team, on 3rd December 1967. The operating rooms have been set up to look exactly as they did at the time and the whole team of doctors and nurses are represented in the form of very lifelike models, much like Madame Tussaud's in London. The tours take approximately 1.5 to 2 hours and are conducted by experienced on-site tour guides who recreate all the drama of that night in each exhibition room.

DAY 4:25th January 2027

Radisson RED Cape
Town V&A Waterfront,
Cape Town, South Africa

Inclusions:

Breakfast,
Wine Tasting

Full Day Private Winelands Tour including Lunch

While South Africa's fertile valleys are world famous for their crisp white and classic French-style red wines, the area is also a treasury of rustic beauty and sprawling estates shaded by giant oak trees.

The day starts with a visit to Paarl where guests will be struck by the beauty of the Valley, the pristine blue sky, the rolling vineyards, and the Pearl of Paarl set high above the valley. Paarl made headlines when President Mandela was released from the Groot Drakenstein prison (formerly known as Victor Verster prison), on the outskirts of the town, to freedom and the start of the new South Africa. Guests will enjoy a wine tasting at one of the local estates.

From Paarl, guests will continue north-west to the beautiful village of Franschhoek, near the Drakenstein Mountains founded in 1688 by French immigrants fleeing the Huguenot religious persecution in Europe. A memorial in the town commemorates the arrival of these early settlers who helped develop the wines sought after by Napoleon, Bismarck, and royalty such as Edward VII, the Prince of Wales. Here we will stop for lunch and another wine tasting at a local vineyard.

Guests will then head to Stellenbosch, the second oldest town in South Africa and the historic heart of the country's wine region. In 1679, Dutch East India Company governor Simon van der Stel, recognized the fertility of this long valley on the banks of the Eerste River, as perfect for vineyards. The rest is history, which has been carefully cultivated in this town. A gracious blend of 18th-century Cape Dutch, Georgian and Victorian buildings is evident on Dorp Street, where massive oaks still shade original water furrows. Enjoy a final wine tasting before returning to Cape Town.

Enjoy the rest of the day at your own leisure.
